JURY OUT ON DUFFY'S CASE AFTER FIGHT

Attorneys Came to Blows This Morn. During Pleas

BULLETIN

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Legal arguments turned into blows in Judge F. L. Anderson's courtroom this morning when County Attorney Walter J. Barngrover and George Claassen, attorney for John Duffy of Dixon, Ill., on trial for bank robbery, got into a heated dispute.

Witnesses said that Claassen struck the first blow, which passed over Barngrover's shoulder, and was in turn sent reeling over a chair when the County Attorney struck his cheek. Courtroom attaches stopped the fight.

The argument started when Barngrover alleged that Duffy had rented deposit boxes in two Chicago banks on the day after the Alburnett State Bank was held up and said that he proposed to learn what was in them. Claassen denied that Barngrover was ignorant of their contents.

Duffy's case went to the jury at noon. A verdict was expected late today.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Jan. 19.—(AP)—The case of John W. Duffy of Chicago and Dixon, Ill., on trial for the robbery of the Alburnett State Bank Nov. 30, neared the jury today, only the final arguments of the District Attorney and the Judge's charge remaining to be disposed of when court convened this morning.

Roscoe Shomler, already convicted of complicity in the robbery, was identified by bank officials as one of the two robbers, and Duffy was likewise identified as the second. Duffy took the stand to swear that he was elsewhere when the bank was robbed of $6689.

In spite of testimony of six state witnesses who said they had seen him in Alburnett the day the bank was held up, Duffy took the stand in his own defense Wednesday morning and gave an account of his activities on that particular day, excluding any visit to Alburnett and placing him in the Union station here at the time the bank was being robbed.

Transported Alcohol. He met Shomler in Chicago on Nov. 29 or early Nov. 30, he said. They drove a load of alcohol to Cedar Rapids, arriving here about 8:30 a. m. Nov. 30, he continued. During the morning, he declared, Mr. and Mrs. Shomler took his car, supposedly to deliver some alcohol, and left him at the Union station. He did not see them again, he said, until about 1:30 when they came after him, and all drove to the home of Mrs. Shomler's father, A. C. Nickel, where they remained until between 5:30 and 6. He admitted the details introduced by the state about the drive to Chicago that night.

Not Sure of Day. His story was partly substantiated by W. M. Hoover, 1612 E. avenue, auto salesman, and a former friend of Duffy in Sterling, Ill. Hoover testified that he met Duffy between 1 and 1:30 p. m. one day at the railroad station, but he was not sure of the date.

Mr. Nickel, in whose home the defense contends that Duffy spent the afternoon, testified that the defendant and Mr. and Mrs. Shomler came to his home between 5:30 and 1 p. m. and stayed until 5:30 or 6 p. m. on the day in question. S. A. Ross, who lived with Mr. Nickel, told about the same story.

County Attorney W. J. Barngrover asked Duffy if he would give his consent to have the sheriff open two of Duffy's safe deposit boxes in Chicago. This caused a bitter argument across the counsel table.

"I have heard," said H. A. Brooks, one of the defense lawyers, "that the state's attorney has the contents of these boxes in open violation of the law." Barngrover denied it.

State Rests Case. Having presented eight witnesses in addition to those heard in the trial of Shomler, the state Tuesday rested its case at 3:15 p. m.

Twelve witnesses identified the defendant and six of them said they saw Duffy in Alburnett. The others, corroborating testimony of witnesses who also appeared against Shomler, connected Duffy with the "blue Buick," which the state contends was used by the robbers and was taken into Illinois by the same men that evening.

About eighteen witnesses in all were called by County Attorney W. J. Barngrover.

George Claassen, attorney for the defense, ran into difficulties as soon as he had opened his case. Five witnesses, all of Dixon, Ill., the former home of Duffy, were put on the stand to establish the character of

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

SERIOUS OPERATION

Mrs. Arthur Gaul of Factory street submitted to a very serious operation for gall stones at the Dixon hospital Tuesday. Her condition is serious.

AGED UNCLE IS DEAD

Mrs. J. E. Reagan has received word of the death of an uncle, Ephraim Bextel, at his home in Chadwick. Mr. Bextel was nearly the ripe age of a hundred years, had not been well for some time.

REPORT OF SHOOTING

The police were called to the west end of the city last evening about 8:30 where it was reported that a shot had been fired into a residence by some unknown person. The officers made an investigation and found two small holes in the plaster in one room, which it developed were old nail holes, and the supposed shot was believed to have been the back-fire from an automobile.

PURITY IS BANKRUPT

Alex Christos and Fred Doulos, proprietors of the Purity Confectionery, through their attorneys, Erwin & Dixon, today filed voluntary petitions in bankruptcy in the United States district court at Freeport. Liabilities were listed in the sum of $13,034.14 with assets amounting to $11,960. The place of business was not closed today with the filing of the petition, which asked that a receiver be appointed to continue the business for the benefit of the creditors.

DIPHTHERIA FATAL

John P. Drew, 1036 Highland ave., this morning was advised of the death of his little grandson, John Michael Drew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Drew of Chicago, who passed away last night after a two weeks illness of diphtheria. The little fellow, aged four years and eight months, was thought to be recovering from the serious illness, and his death is a shock to the parents and their many friends, all of whom extend sincerest condolence. He is survived by his parents and two sisters, Lorraine and Jane.

WORD OF MISSING BOY

The first word from Allen Taylor, 16 year old high school student, who disappeared from his home here the first of the week, was received by the anxious parents last evening. A friend of the family, according to the report given the local police, met Allen Tuesday afternoon about 3 o'clock in Centralia.

The young man is believed to be making his way to the home of his grandparents in the southern part of the state by securing rides in automobiles. Following receipt of the word of his presence in Centralia, Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber dispatched descriptions to police in cities

SOUTH HONORS GENERAL LEE, BEATEN CHIEF

Ceremonies of Devotion in All Cities South of Line

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 19.—(AP)—The south paused today to pay tribute to Robert E. Lee on the 121st anniversary of his birth.

While states declared legal holidays and banks and most other commercial institutions suspended business, veterans of the sixties, their sons and daughters, and school children united in ceremonies of devotion.

In every state south of the Potomac there were programs of formal praise of the Gray leader.

LEE MANUSCRIPT

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 19.—(AP)—A signed copy of General Robert E. Lee's farwell address to his soldiers, valued at $25,000, has been found here in possession of an attorney.

The unnamed lawyer, the Courier-Journal says, has treasured the manuscript as an heirloom and decently showed it to experts at the library of congress who declared that it took rank as one of America's most valuable documents, fit to be preserved with the original of the declaration of independence and the constitution of the United States.

THREE-YEAR-OLD BABY SAID TO HAVE BEEN VICTIM MAN AGED 65 IN STREATOR INN

Streator—Thomas Metz, 65, wealthy and widely known resident of Fairbury, Ill., under arrest at Streator charged with having criminally attacked Theresa Oliver, three years old daughter of Philip Oliver, Streator hotel owner. The crime is regarded by authorities as one of the most atrocious ever committed in this county.

Metz's preliminary hearing was to be held in a Streator justice of the peace court Thursday afternoon.

Judge Regrets He Could Not Send Child's Murderer to Death; Prison for Life at Hard Labor Sentence

Hotelling Taken to Prison Today to Begin Term

Flint, Mich., Jan. 19.—(AP)—A judge's vigorously expressed regret that he could not, under the law, impose a death sentence followed Adolph Hotelling today on his journey to a life's cell at the Marquette state prison.

Solitary confinement at hard labor for the rest of his life was the punishment Circuit Judge Fred M. Brennan decreed for Hotelling as the utmost penalty the state could exact for the kidnapping, slaying and mutilation of five-year-old Dorothy Schneider.

The trial and sentencing took place here yesterday after Hotelling had been spirited into the city from the state reformatory at Ionia. The proceedings required only a few minutes and Hotelling was immediately started on his way to Marquette by automobile, as a precaution against mob violence.

Scored by Judge.

"You appear to have no regrets," said Judge Brennan in passing sentence, after the defendant had admitted details of the assault and slaying without show of emotion. "The details as shown by this confession and the proof convince me that we should have capital punishment in this state."

"The sentence of this court is that you be confined in Marquette branch prison in solitary confinement at hard labor for the balance of your life."

The prisoner made no response and the judge shouted:

"Hard labor, in solitary confinement, for the rest of your life! Do you understand?"

Father Struck Him.

The slayer nodded his head in acknowledgement and the trial was over.

As the stolid church deacon was brought into the court room, Leslie Schneider, father of the child victim, sprang from his seat and struck the man squarely in the face. The room was thrown into an uproar, but quiet was restored and Schneider was taken from the room.

From Flint Hotelling was taken to Saginaw and locked up. Early today prisoner and guards entrained for Marquette.

DREAM BROUGHT TIP

Owosso, Mich.—Did a weird dream that troubled the sleep of 25-year-old Harold Lotridge bring about the arrest of Adolph Hotelling, confessed slayer of Dorothy Schneider of Flint, and so end one of the most feverish manhunts in Michigan's history?

Lotridge believes it did. He has retained an attorney to fight for the $8,000 reward which was offered for the slayer's arrest—and he is ready to admit that his dream, even if it should not win him the reward, has already caused him plenty of trouble.

Lotridge's family lives near Hotelling's family, attends the same church and knows the Hotellings intimately. On the night that Hotelling was elevated from deacon to elder in the church, young Lotridge was made a deacon.

On Monday morning Lotridge and his father went to Flushing, a small town near Flint, where they were employed in the erection of a school house. On the way, Harold told his father of a dream that had broken his sleep the night before.

"I thought he saw dead that little girl in Flint," he said. "I thought I saw it being done and saw the murderer, and the impression has stayed with me ever since I woke up."

The father asked him what the murderer had look like in his dream. Harold gave a description.

"Why, that fits Adolph Hotelling!" said his father, surprised.

"I know it does—what had we better do?" replied the son.

The two continued on to Flushing and started work. There they told the foreman and asked his advice. He suggested that they lay off for a few hours and go to Flint to tell their

Look to Carolina Coast for Aviator

Daytona Beach, Fla., Jan. 19.—(AP)—This city today looked toward the Carolina coast in hope of news of Ted Mosely, pilot, and Fred Herring, mechanic, who have not been heard from since they left here Monday for Mitchell Field, N. Y., with news reel films of President Coolidge's reception in Havana.

Last definite information about the Stinson biplane in which the pair were flying came from Savannah, Ga., in reports that it passed over that city about three hours and a half after its takeoff here.

The Department of Commerce in Washington has been requested to aid in the effort to locate Mosely and Herring.

Fliers Forced Down in Carolina by Fog

Parris Island, S. C., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Austin F. Bement, Detroit advertising man and Leonard S. Flo, pilot, took off at 9:20 A. M. for Jacksonville, Fla., after having been forced down by fog on their projected non-stop Detroit-Havana flight a few hours earlier.

WHOLE FAMILY DEAD RESULT OF "MEDICINE"

Indicted Man Administered Medicine to Loved Ones

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 19.—(AP)—While police today sought to determine the contents of a bottle of "cough medicine" which last night caused the deaths of James Potter, 45, and the three members of his family here, word came from Steubenville, Ohio, his former home, that Potter was once a prominent capitalist there, before he lost a fortune in oil and coal developments.

An indictment was returned against him there last week, charging that he had obtained money under false pretenses in connection with a real estate and contracting business.

The victims in addition to Potter, were his wife, Lulu, 43, and their two sons James Jr., 16, and Robert, 14.

Roomers at the house were aroused late last night when Robert and his mother ran screaming from their apartment. Forty five minutes later the entire family was dead in a hospital.

"Daddy has given us some cough medicine. I can feel it coming on," Robert cried and collapsed. His mother fell beside him.

Police were called and the victims were rushed to a hospital where they were pronounced dead.

Scarlet Fever Fatal to Florence Graham

Sublette friends were notified Wednesday of the sudden death of Miss Florence Graham, the 18 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Graham of Wenona, who died yesterday morning at a sanitarium in Ottawa, Ill., of scarlet fever. Mr. Graham is at present ticket agent and telegraph operator for the Illinois Central railroad at Wenona. He has been with the I. C. for many years and has been stationed at Polo, Forreston and other stations along this division and has many friends who will be shocked to learn of Miss Graham's sudden death.

Funeral Mrs. Alice Rowland on Friday

Polo, Jan. 19.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Alice J. Rowland will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Methodist church.

Burial will take place in Fairmount cemetery. A sister, Mrs. Ray Stock of Dixon, had been assisting in caring for her during her late illness.

PASSAGE McNARY BILL PREDICTED BY A. F. B. F. HEAD

Sam Thompson Doesn't Think President Will Veto It

Rock Island, Ill., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Active support of the farmers of the country in behalf of the McNary-Haugen bill was urged today by Sam H. Thompson, President of the American Farm Bureau Federation, here to attend the 13th annual meeting of the Illinois Agricultural Association.

"The bill is at a critical stage before the agricultural committee of the House of Representatives," he declared. "Pressure of the opposition forces will be brought to bear, and those of us who believe this relief measure is essential to the welfare of agriculture and the nation, should give it our undivided support at this time."

Mr. Thompson arrived here last night from Washington and said he had been unable to discern any definite sectional move to thwart the bill. The principal fight centered around the equalization fee, said the white-haired president, who recently toured Europe for a study of agricultural conditions, but the measure has already been stripped to the limit, and for the welfare of agriculture, should be passed as it stands.

Veto Discounted.

"I do not believe President Coolidge will again veto the bill," Mr. Thompson ventured. "It has been altered to rid it of several features objectionable to him, including the appointment of the farm board and the listing of only a few commodities."

"Once out of the House committee, we have little fear for the bill's passage."

He anticipated action in the committee by the middle of next week.

Opening the convention, attended by thousands of midwest farmers, Earl C. Smith, President, declared the farm problem undoubtedly is the paramount question before the nation, and predict 1928 would be a crucial year for agriculture.

Shoulder to Shoulder.

"The wheat farmers of the west, the cotton and rice growers of the south, the tobacco growers of Kentucky and the dairy and fruit growers of New England are standing shoulder to shoulder with the corn and hog producers of the midwest and knocking on the doors of the 70th Congress," declared Mr. Smith, "insisting that they again pass legislation embodying the essential principles of the McNary-Haugen bill. All indications are that it will pass the 70th Congress by a much larger vote than formerly."

Mr. Smith reviewed the outstanding accomplishments of the I. A. A.; reductions in full valuations of farm land since 1920 for state taxing purposes of $600,000,000, and reductions of $400,000,000 since 1922 for county and local purposes. This, he said, had cut taxes on farm land more than $2,000,000 annually since 1922. Further re-adjustment made in 1927 will be reflected at the next taxable period, showing a total lowering in farmers' taxes of more than $4,000,000.

Kept Rates Down.

The Association last year was active before the Interstate and State Commissions, the most outstanding accomplishment being prevention of advance in freight rates on fruits and vegetables, which would have amounted to $115,000 annually to Illinois farmers.

Railroad claims totalling $25,500 also were collected.

Mr. Smith touched on the activities of the Illinois Farm Bureau Serum Association, a subsidiary of the I. A. A. which saved its members virtually $250,000 in 1927; on the advance of cooperative marketing; the success of the new automobile insurance company formed by the association; the 15 minute noon radio program and the increase in membership of 4,000.

"While I have mentioned the most outstanding accomplishments of the year," he declared, "the work of the

REBEL GENERAL KILLED BY YANK MARINES, REPORT

Travelers Say Sandino Met Death During Bombing Flight

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Reports were current today that General Augustino Sandino, rebel leader, had been slain in an airplane bombardment by Marines.

Marine headquarters attempted to confirm the reports, which originated with Nicaraguans coming from Nuevo Segovia, scene of the Marines drive against Sandino.

He was said to have been killed Saturday at his mountain stronghold at El Chipote. Marine planes strafed rebels there Saturday and on their return reported forty rebels killed and many wounded.

Sandino had been expected at Jinotega Sunday and although the signal for his arrival was given he never appeared.

Nicaraguan travelers said Sandino's wife left San Rafael hurriedly for El Chipote in response to an urgent message.

The General's body was turned over to his widow at the mountain stronghold the Nicaraguans asserted. They said she was returning with it to San Rafael for a great funeral.

MARSHAL KIDNAPED BY THREE BANDITS HE APPREHENDED IN ATTEMPT TO ROB WIS. STORE

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Roy Hyatt, the town marshal of River Falls, Wis., was shot in the arm and one of three bandits who kidnaped him was wounded in the head in a running gun fight early today with St. Paul police who intercepted the bandits as they sped into this city from Wisconsin.

Two of the bandits escaped when their truck stopped as the driver slumped over the wheel with bullet wounds in his head. The wounded driver gave his name as Tom Plattner, 29, St. Paul. Neither was seriously hurt.

Hyatt surprised the trio in River Falls as they were attempting to break into a jewelry store, but before he could draw his pistol he was covered by the bandits who ordered him into their truck and headed toward St. Paul.

As they were driving away a citizen recognized Hyatt and sensing something wrong, notified police who called St. Paul authorities by telephone. Three gun squads lay in wait for the bandit truck here, and when it failed to halt on command, the running fight developed.

SENATE WILL VOTE ON HIS RIGHT TODAY

To Stay on Job Until Question is Disposed of

Washington, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Called into session an hour earlier than usual, the Senate faced the prospect of being kept on the job today until it finally disposes of the controversy that has kept Senator-elect Frank L. Smith of Illinois, from his seat.

The agreement to meet earlier was reached as a substitute for the proposal of Senator Curtis of Kansas, the republican leader, for a final vote by 5 o'clock and back of that was the threat of Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, to demand a decision before adjournment.

The third day of debate on the resolution barring Smith from membership found a change in the language of the resolution.

The modification, agreed upon by the committee at the insistence of Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, eliminates the statement that Smith is not entitled to the oath of office because of the nature of contributions to his 1926 campaign fund.

The revised document relates that Smith's credentials are tainted with "fraud and corruption" and that as a consequence he is not entitled to membership in the Senate, and that a vacancy exists in the Illinois representation.

Some Senators contended that the modification would permit the Illinois Governor to appoint a successor to Smith, but the latter's friends believed Governor Small would not accept that alternative but would leave Smith in position to again offer his credentials at the next Congress, after the fall elections have designated one-third of the Senate membership.

Text of Resolution.

The resolution to declare Smith's seat vacant follows: "Whereas, on the 17th day of May, 1926, the Senate passed a resolution creating a special committee to investigate and determine the propriety of use of money to promote the nomination or election of persons to the United States Senate, and the employment of certain other corrupt and unlawful means to secure such nomination or election;

"Whereas, said committee in the discharge of its duties notified Frank L. Smith of Illinois, then a candidate for the United States Senate from that state, of its proceedings in person and was permitted to counsel with and be represented by his attorneys and agents;

"Whereas, said committee has reported:

Spent $458,782?

"That the evidence without substantial dispute shows that there was expended directly or indirectly for and on behalf of the candidacy of the said Frank L. Smith for the United States Senate the sum of $458,782; that all of the above sum except $171,500 was contributed directly to and received by the personal agent and representative of the said Frank L. Smith with his full knowledge and consent; and that of the total sum aforesaid there was contributed by officers of large public service institutions the sum of $203,000, a substantial part of which sum was contributed by men who were non-residents of Illinois, but who were officers of Illinois public service corporations.

"That at all of the times aforesaid, the said Frank L. Smith was chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission, and that said public service corporations commonly and generally had business before said commission, and said commission was, among other things, empowered to regulate the rates, charges and business of said corporations.

"Against state law?

"That by the statutes of Illinois it is made a misdemeanor for any officer or agent of such public service corporations to contribute any money to any member of said Commission, or for any member of said commission to accept such moneys upon penalty of removal from office.

"That said Smith has in no manner controverted the truth of the foregoing facts, although full and complete opportunity was given to him, not only to present evidence but arguments in his behalf; and whereas the said official report of said committee and the sworn evidence is now and for many months has been on file with the senate, and all of the facts appear without sub-

Liquor Corporation

Said to be Active

East St. Louis, Ill., Jan. 19—(AP)—

District Attorney Baker charged in Federal court here today that a huge bootlegging corporation existed in this vicinity to operate stills, pay fines of liquor law violators and to compensate them for time spent in jail.

Five cases in which the hand of the corporation was apparent have come to his attention, Baker told

Federal Judge Fred L. Wham. He said he had affidavits to prove his statement, which was made after

Henry Vogt, a farmer, pleaded guilty to a charge of having a still on his farm, eight miles southeast of here.

Vogt told Judge Wham he was paid by bootleggers whom he knew by name for the privilege of operating the still on his farm. Vogt, the father of seven children, was fined $700.

His farm was raided early in December and 30,000 gallons of mash were seized.

OLD MASTERS

OLD MASTERS
So high is grandeur to our dust,
So near is God to man,
When Duty whispers low, "Thou must,"
The youth replies, "I can."
—Ralph Waldo Emerson: Duty.

Pretty Wedding of Reynolds Couple

The wedding of two popular young people was solemnized Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the Reynolds parsonage when Rev. J. A. Iwig united in marriage Miss Lucile Grace Ewald of Steward, and Glenn W. Henert, of Reynolds. They were attended by Miss Dorothy Ackland of Steward, and Clarence Ewald, brother of the bride. Miss Ewald was beautifully gowned in Alice blue georgette. The bridesmaid wore old rose georgette.
The bride who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ewald, is a charming young woman who is capable of filling her new home with happiness. Mr. Henert, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob E. Henert, is a progressive young farmer, greatly admired for his good qualities.
The young couple left Saturday afternoon for Chicago where they will spend their honeymoon, and on their return they will be at home to their many friends on the Salzman farm, south of Ashton. Best wishes are extended for a long, happy, prosperous life.

Ralph Taylor and Mies Murphy Wed

Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in this city at the parsonage of the First Baptist church, the pastor, Rev. W. W. Marshall, officiated at the wedding uniting the lives of Ralph Taylor and Miss Doris Murphy, both of this vicinity. The bride was prettily gowned in grey silk. The young couple were attended by Glemen Murphy brother of the bride and by Henry Cates. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left on a brief wedding journey and will later make their home in Detroit, Michigan, where the young man has employment. The friends of both extend best wishes for their continued happiness.

DAUGHTER BISHOP ANDERSON TO WED FEB. 10th

MENU for the FAMILY

BREAKFAST—Orange juice, cereal cooked with dates, cream French toast, syrup, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Creamed salmon on toast, head lettuce, canned peaches, marguerites, milk tea.
Dinner—Hungarian goulash, baked squash, prune and cottage cheese salad, Washington cream pie, milk, coffee.

Washington Cream Pie
One cup grated coconut, 1-3 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 egg, 1 cup flour, 1-2 cup milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 3 tablespoons powdered sugar.
Cream butter and sugar. Beat yolk of egg until thick, with half the milk. Add to first mixture and beat well with egg beater. Mix and sift flour, salt, baking powder and add alternately with remaining milk to first mixture. Add vanilla and beat until perfectly smooth. Pour into an oiled and floured shallow cake pan and bake twenty minutes in a moderately hot oven. Add one tablespoon very cold water to white of egg and beat until stiff and dry. Gradually add powdered sugar, beating well. When cake is cool, split and spread lower half with the frosting.

Interesting Meeting Of Legion Auxiliary

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary to Dixon Post No. 12, was held Wednesday afternoon in Legion hall with the new officers in their chairs and a good attendance of members. After the opening service the business of the order was transacted.

The reports from the Department were read. These were of the Christmas work done for the World War orphans and men in hospitals. Four hundred and thirty Illinois men in hospitals in states outside of Illinois, were each sent a Christmas card and a brand new one dollar bill. The parties and trees and Santa Claus for the children at the Normal Orphans' Home, and at Freeport, were happy occasions for these two hundred and fifty children. Everywhere the men in hospitals were made happy with gifts and entertainment. The Dixon unit voted to continue sending a case of eggs each month to the World War men at the sanitarium at Elgin. Plans for the membership drive were completed, this to be a contest between the north and south sides, losing side to entertain the winning side at the close of the drive.

The hospital committee will hold an all day meeting Wednesday in Legion hall, a picnic dinner to be served at noon.
Friday and Saturday of this week the Unit ladies are holding a rummage sale at Peoria avenue room south of American store. There will be some very good clothing for sale. The chairman asks all members not to forget this sale and to bring all donations to this place as early as possible.

Mrs. Mable O'Malley will entertain the Auxiliary Card Club at her home, 603 N. Jefferson Ave., Friday afternoon, Jan. 27. All members are invited to attend. One new member was added to the roll. There is a large class to be initiated. The President announced this would be a part of the business of the next meeting, Feb. 1st.
The president read the names of her committees and chairmen for the coming year. Meeting closed in regular form.

Regular Meeting Ladies of G. A. R.

The regular meeting of the ladies of the G. A. R. was held in G. A. R. hall with a good attendance of members present. This was the first business meeting of the year and was presided over by the newly elected officers who did their work in a praise worthy manner.
The Sunshine committee reported that flowers and cheer cards had been sent to a number of members who have been ill.
The secretary read the names of the different committees who had been appointed for the year.
The meeting closed in regular form to meet again Jan. 30th.

ARMOR-LIKE CLANK PART OF FASHION
Paris—(AP)—Many well dressed Parisians consider a metallic clank and tinkle an important factor in their style success.

Gestures are back in fashion since women took to wearing quantities of bracelets which jingle every time they move their hands. Even the new scarfs are trimmed with hundreds of pieces of round or square metal sequins that give out a little tinkle with every movement.
Now the designer of shoes is putting fringes of metal mesh on the toes of dancing slippers. They make a metallic swish with every step.

RECEPTION FOR NEW PASTOR AND WIFE
Much interest is being evidenced by members and friends of the Presbyterian church in the reception to be held for Rev. J. Franklin Young, newly arrived pastor of the Presbyterian church, and Mrs. Young. The informal reception is to be held in the church parlors and all members of the church and friends are cordially invited to attend and become better acquainted.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

The clarion call of none less than Florenz Kieffeld for "pleasingly plump" girls for his shows probably brought more Yuletide cheer to the hearts of more American mothers than any other gift of the holiday season. For the scientists and physicians and social reformers and educators who have been shouting for months that too-thin girls were making themselves prey for fatal illness, were given only deaf ears by the flapper period, but a hearty expert like the Follies man who says that their bones and knobs and angles are ruining their chances on the stage is something else. Here's prophesying that many a dill pickle lunch gave way to creamed chicken on tea biscuit the day his announcement came forth from Broadway.

HOW'S YOUR NOSE?
The making of perfume is engaging many women at high salaries I learn. Women are supposed to have "the nose for it," and are paid huge sums for creating or "designing" the most stylish perfumes. It takes at least six months, they say, to make any respectable blend, and a year is a safer guess. One woman in this fairly new industry is panic-stricken just now over a certain blend which is pronounced priceless a few hours after it is first applied. But for those first few hours it has an almost disagreeable odor. If she can do away with this first period, she says she has THE perfume of the century. Here's hoping—we need it.

COUNTESS VERA
Remember Vera, the Countess of Cathcart, who got Ellis Island quite excited a few years ago when they detained her because of "moral turpitude"? Well, her former husband, the Earl of Cathcart, died the other day. The only point seems to be that Vera got so much better known than he ever did, what with her "moral turpitude" and Earl Carroll show, "n' everything. You can't deny that if notoriety is what women want, it doesn't pay them to be ordinarily good. "Moral turpitudes" pay the biggest dividends in the way of public attention.

APRONS ON 'EM!
It takes a foreign country, of course, to come forward with a suggestion for the relief of women, much as this country prides itself on its care of women. France, concerned about the fatiguing week-end hostess who entertains their own and her husbands' friends, is waging a campaign in many journals, urging husbands to share 50-50 in the housework when they themselves are not at business. The journals get most impassioned about the injustice of expecting only women to have no week-ends and toil even harder than during the week.
Very sensible policy, methinks! I'm for more husbands in aprons on the Holy Sabbath.

An appetizing luncheon was served at midnight. At a late hour all departed voting Mr. and Mrs. John Blackburn and son royal entertainers.

LIFE'S NICETIES HINTS ON ETIQUET—

1. What should be the first thought of host and hostess for a visiting guest?
  2. What should they be careful to avoid, however?
  3. What is one way?
- The Answers
1. Their comfort and entertainment.
2. Straining themselves so that their guests will feel themselves a burden.
3. By setting parts of each day aside when the guests can entertain themselves.

Bits About Two Artists Here Sunday

Are Americans behind other nations, especially behind the Latins, in appreciation of music?
Many authorities will tell you they are. But Jose Echaniz, twenty-two year old piano virtuoso who appears in recital here at the Dixon theater Sunday will tell you that they are not. Americans, he asserts, evince their love of music in a manner different from that of other people, but their musical appreciation is no less ardent.
Senor Echaniz is himself a Latin, having been born in Havana, Cuba, of Spanish-French-Italian ancestry. All his music instruction was received from Latins. His first recognition in the field of music was bestowed by Latins. So he feels that he understands the Latin musical temperament thoroughly.

"A Latin audience goes wild when it likes the playing of a musical artist," explained Senor Echaniz. "An Anglo-Saxon audience is far less vociferous, even when it is profoundly stirred. But the Latin audience is fickle. It cheers an artist to the echo at one recital, and a few months later when his performance may be slightly off because of some indisposition, it laughs at him or even hisses."

"On the other hand, the American audience, essentially Anglo-Saxon in thought and action, bestows its appreciation upon an artist, and remains loyal year after year, condoning all but the gravest of derelictions so long as the general quality of the work remains high.
"The American does not applaud so loudly, because he has been taught to restrain his emotions. However, he comes back again and again to hear the artist on whom he has bestowed his approval, while the Latin is scattering his musical affections all around. And as between constancy and promiscuity in musical appreciation, I think there can be no choice."

Wallenstein, 'Cellist
Although the strength of his fingers, hands and arms is twice as great as that of the average man, Alfred Wallenstein, principal 'cellist of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, who appears in recital here at the Dixon theater, on Sunday, is prohibited from lifting heavy weights and particularly from carrying all such articles as suitcases, handbags, bulky parcels, etc.
As with every instrumentalist, Mr. Wallenstein's fortune is in his arms and hands. Any injury to a muscle could easily diminish his earning power greatly. And a muscular strain that did not result in permanent injury might nevertheless dim the brilliancy of a performance that followed shortly after it occurred.

Consequently Mr. Wallenstein has not carried a suitcase from a hotel room to a waiting taxi since he was engaged by the Chicago Symphony orchestra six years ago.

A musical acquaintance who had lugged many a fifty pound grip many a weary block in the course of his artistic career was recently congratulating Mr. Wallenstein on his freedom from burden bearing.
"It must be wonderful to be prohibited by contract from lifting anything heavier than a cup of coffee," he bantered.

"Oh I don't know," mournfully returned the 'cellist, who, although American born, is descended from a long line of thrifty German ancestors. "Whenever I think of what I've paid out to Red Caps and bell boys for smashing my baggage it harms my performance almost as much as carrying the luggage would have done."

TRIANGLE CLUB WILL NOT MEET THIS EVENING—

The Triangle club will not meet this evening as scheduled with Miss Slothower, but has been postponed until Tuesday, the 24th.

ROMANCE AND CANCER.

Cancer, according to a Chicago specialist, can be eliminated by proper manipulation of the laws of heredity. Many years of experiments with mice have convinced this specialist that the right kind of marriages would soon relegate cancer to the list of diseases that mankind has conquered.

"We could wipe out cancer," laments the specialist, "if only there were no such thing as romance in this world."

Probably the specialist is right. It is also true that a great many other evils could be eliminated if only romance were non-existent. Many terrible crimes, many heart aches, many disappointments and failures and suicides, are due directly to the force which we call romance. Take the urge to romance out of the human heart and you would have a world that would run much more smoothly, with very much less physical and mental suffering.

Unfortunately, however, many other things would also be eliminated.

For the demiurge—the force that impels each living person to build, or counterfeit as well as may be possible, an authentic romance of some sort—is precisely the one thing, more than any other thing, that lifts us above the beasts. Without it we could stagnate in perfect peace forever; we could gain perfect content, could forget our worries, our doubts, our goading aspirations, and lie in the wallow of self satisfaction as placidly as any pig. We could ignore the mystic glimmer of the wheeling stars far overhead, could forget the torturing pulsations of the creative urge, could live and die strangers to the painful ecstasies that are born of high visions and lofty dreams.

But, somehow, it wouldn't be worth it. The brief, unhappy existence of a Shelley will always seem preferable to the long-drawn out, uneventful career of a Daddy Mossback, eating and drinking and sleeping through a sheltered century in some isolated mountain cabin. Dean Swift, one of the unhappiest men who ever lived, had a better life, on the whole, than the smug, portly country gentlemen of his day who never knew hunger or heartache.

For all birth and growth are painful. The human race, born in dark caves and surrounded by woes from the days of its infancy, is at last growing—oh, so painfully!—to something approaching maturity.

And romance, bringer of trouble and misfortune, is the chief contributing element.

GOOD OLD DAYS COME BACK.

The good old days have returned, and those of us who have been perplexed by the troubling problems and shibboleths of the modern world may now sigh the sigh of relief and hunt up our easy chairs again.

Congress is debating the tariff once more! Time was when the tariff was the one sure-fire political subject. All other issues paled before it. It was, depending on your point of view, either the source of every joy or the author of every evil.

Then came the puzzling post-war days, with a lot of new problems which the average man never could hope to discuss with any sort of fervor. Few Americans ever got really mad discussing reparations or the world court.

But now Congress is debating the tariff. The good old days!

The Democrats have decided to hold their convention in Texas. Now we'll find out how good the Texas rangers really are. . . . Those Texans who persuaded the delegates to convene in Texas must have known their ropes. . . . Houston should enjoy having the Democrats there, however, as it has been some years since the town has had anything good and bloody. . . . This offers a wonderful opportunity to educate Mexico. Only a few Mexicans could see the convention, of course, but all of them probably will hear it.

We see no mystery in the bulletin from a university announcing the finding that fat students study most while the lean ones are more popular socially. If you think it's puzzling go out and learn one of the new dances and then weigh yourself.

Henry Ford says railroad trains should be lighter. That would give Model A a better break.

The eagle is said to fly fastest when going away from its nest. A nice emblem for our money.

An eccentric family moved into our neighborhood recently. The husband and wife go out walking on Sunday afternoons.

John J. Pershing has been named a bank director. Maybe because he knows his doughboys.

Folks prick up their ears these days when somebody talks about his ship coming in. It may be a rum ship.

Lazy people think heaven is a place where they will never have to get up, but, of course, it is a place they will have to get up to.

Life is puzzling. A rut is something a man spends half his time digging and the other half trying to keep out of.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

The Tinies scampered on, and then they reached their cracker box again. The cracker horses they'd removed were sprawling on the ground. Wee Scouty stood them on their feet and every one looked very neat. He tried to make them neigh, but not a one would make a sound.

Then Clowny started quite a fuss. "Why did they give these things to us? We can't have any fun with them as long as they stand still. I'd like to ride one. 'Twould be fun, but shucks I guess it can't be done." Wee Copy answered, "What's the use? You only take a spill." "Don't try to tease me," Clowny said. "Cause teasing's something that I dread. I've taken lots of falls, but never from a horse like this. You think I'm clumsy, but you're wrong. I'm really very brave and strong. I merely have bad luck and that's what makes things go amiss."

Then Carpy climbed down from some rocks, and said, "What else is

(The animal crackers come to life in the next story.)

SAINT and SINNER

Faith Lane Hathaway had never plumbed such depths of self-loathing in all her too-introspective life as she reached that Tuesday morning, the third day of her sudden illness. The thing that plunged her to the very bottom of the pit of despair was the realization that both Cherry and Bob had credited her with only the loftiest sentiments. To them she was blameless, a person of such unquestionable nobility that it had never occurred to them to put the true interpretation upon her flight and supposed loss of memory. They had been bewildered, frantic with terror for her, but they had never for a moment explained or sought to explain her strange behavior on the grounds of her jealousy for Cherry. And although she had fled from her family in the company of George Pruitt, a former suitor, a man who still loved her, as they very well knew, neither Bob nor Cherry had for a moment considered the possibility that her flight with George and the taking of an assumed name indicated an intrigue between the two.

No. They could think no evil of her, for they both trusted her implicitly. Alone except for the nurse, Miss Sutton, Faith turned her face to the wall and wept silently, dreading. Not yet could she take comfort from the very fact of their loyalty and their implicit faith. Her conviction of unworthiness was so profound that again she wanted to die. Who was she to be the wife of a man like Bob Hathaway? Ever since the first week of her marriage she had poisoned her happiness by suspicion and doubt. It was she, not he, who had stipulated that Cherry should make her home with them. Had she hoped, in the depths of evil which lie dormant even in the best of us, that Bob would be rude to Cherry, that he would ignore her beauty and vivacity and show only his distaste for the girl he had once been in love with?

"I'm not fit to live," Faith cried in her heart despairingly. "I've been called good—the 'family saint,' they've always called me—and I'm not worthy to polish his shoes. When I'm thinking the worst of him, he's doing his best to insure Cherry's happiness—and ours, by urging her to accept and glory in her love for Nils. When I run away from him, mortally sick with horror of him, he explains my insanity by saying—and believing—that it is caused by my overpowering love for Hope, whom Cherry would take from me by marrying Nils. No, I'm not fit to live."

Her ceaseless weeping and her urofound despair whipped up the fever which had been almost conquered, and for a few merciful hours she was again too ill for coherent thought. The doctor, puzzled, and alarmed, excluded visitors for the rest of the day. For the girl who hated herself there was a sort of bitter pleasure in being denied a sight of the man and the sister she had wronged. And she had not yet the heart to plan a way out of the "amnesia" deception which she had practiced upon the doctor and upon her family.

WEST BROOKLYN NEWS

West Brooklyn—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gallisath drove to Mendota Tuesday where they called on friends.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Gehant, Sr. pleasantly surprised them Tuesday evening with their forty-sixth wedding anniversary. The evening was spent in playing five hundred and a scramble luncheon was served at midnight from well filled baskets which the young folks brought with them. The event will be long remembered by the elder folks and affords the children much satisfaction in having surprised their parents.

Joseph Auchstetter shipped two carloads of Angus feeding cattle to market Wednesday. The animals were rather wild and afforded the town folks some excitement when the herd broke loose and scattered in all directions.

Levi Lewis and son Lester were here from the vicinity of Steward Tuesday and called on friends. Mr. Lewis has leased the farm north of town which will be vacated by Heenen Merschon.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Chaon drove to Mendota Wednesday and visited friends.

Father Urban Halmaier brought his parish team from Freeport Tuesday evening to meet our local town team. The game was exciting from start to finish and both teams put up a noble fight, and it was not until the final whistle that the crowd really knew who won the game, as first one side was in the lead and then the other. However the visitors were the victors by a margin of three when the game ended. Before returning home the visitors were treated to refreshments and they left with a good impression of our little village.

Alfred Hicks was here from Amboy Wednesday and called on friends. Mrs. Andrew Gehant and Mrs. F. W. Meyer drove to Dixon Tuesday where they had dental work done. Allen Heinzroth was a business

There will be a card party at the school hall next Sunday evening under the auspices of the Christian Mothers. Admission will be 25c and will include luncheon.

John and Clarence Ackland were here from Viola Tuesday calling on their many friends. Clarence was passing the cigars having recently become a married man.

We were sorry to learn that we are to lose another of our residents when Mr. and Mrs. Chris P. Henkel decided to leave the store and occupy Mrs. Richard Long's farm in the vicinity of Harmon. Chris has been a steady employee in Meyer's store for the past 23 years but the indoor work has been too confining and he is obliged to give it up.

Joseph Vernier was here from Bradford Tuesday calling on his many friends. Joe is dreading the time when he will have to move next month.

Miss Marie Graf, teacher of the Nelles school and Miss Mary Fenton, teacher of the Sorrenson school, gave a dancing party at the opera house Wednesday evening which was well patronized and everyone had a fine time. The hall was specially decorated for the occasion and the school girls served luncheon to the crowd. A neat sum was realized which was equally divided between the two districts and will be spent for improvements in the schools.

Irvin F. Knauer and Glen Schulteis returned home Friday after a few days spent at Joliet conferring with the Standard Oil Company.

Clarence Bodmer was here from near Steward Saturday posting sale bills announcing Mrs. Henry Haefner's closing out sale. Mrs. Haefner has decided to quit the farm and Clarence will lease it for the coming year.

AGRICULTURE IS NOT AT RIGHTFUL PLACE IN WORLD

President Smith of I.
A. A. Delivers Annual Address

Rock Island, Ill., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Despite the high prices of cattle and cotton in 1927, agriculture generally has not yet recovered its proper place in the national economic structure, in the opinion of Earl C. Smith, expressed today in his presidential address before the Illinois Agricultural Association.

"The true relation of the farming industry to other industry and labor has changed but little in the past year," Mr. Smith declared.

While he rejoiced in the emergence of cotton and cotton growers from a protracted period of depression, he found in the 1927 market situation only "added proof that the whole problem of agricultural instability remains unsolved." The Department of Agriculture index of farm purchasing power, by which the exchange value of farm products was estimated at 92 percent of the exchange value for the five-year pre-war period, Mr. Smith described as "of value for comparative purposes, but falls far short of truth and accuracy as a real measuring stick of the farmer's condition."

"During the five years 1909-1913, it required but one-tenth of the value of the Illinois corn crop on an average to pay the average annual farm tax bill," the president said. "The past year direct farm taxes consumed nearly one-third of the value of our total corn crop. The value of the 1927 corn crop was slightly less than eight percent greater than the average value of the corn crop from 1909 to 1913, but the farm tax was three times as great."

Gas Tax Victory.
Drawing attention to the work of the last general assembly, Mr. Smith hailed the passage of the gasoline tax law as a victory for the association and the farmers. It represents, he said, the first step toward the adoption of a resolution providing for a special tax committee which will recommend a practicable tax revision program to the next legislature. The Grain Exchange Control Measure was lost in a late filibuster, he said. The Association lost its fight against the Chicago Bonding Bills, which opened the way for increased taxation for bonding purposes throughout Illinois. An amendment to the Jural law intended to hold downstate taxation to its former limits has since been declared invalid by the state supreme court, he added, and the Association is now supporting a bill before the special legislative session which would confine bonding power in sections outside Cook county to its former limits. Mr. Smith reiterated his advocacy of a farm bill embodying the principles of the McNary-Haugen bill, and predicted the passage of such a measure by the 70th Congress "by a much larger vote than formerly."

Must Elect Friends.
"Should it meet again with a veto," he added, "it will be up to the friends of agriculture to elect as chief executive a man who has a sympathetic understanding of agriculture."

Reviewing the activities of the Illinois Agricultural Association, the president called 1927 one of its most successful years, and reported an increase in membership of 4,000.

In cooperation with County Farm Bureaus, he said the Association has secured reductions of $500,000,000 in full valuations of farm lands for state taxing purposes since 1920, and since 1922, reductions of $400,000,000 for county and local purposes. These reductions had cut farm land taxes more than two million dollars annually since 1923, and further readjustment in 1927 he declared would show taxes lowered more than $4,000,000.

Mr. Smith recounted the association's activities in the cooperative marketing of its members' livestock, fruit, vegetable and dairy products, and announced that a constructive grain marketing program would probably be inaugurated shortly.

The Association's 15 minute noon radio program will likely be enlarged in 1928, he revealed.

"All our efforts lead to one ultimate goal," Mr. Smith asserted. "That is the development and maintenance of an enduring and wholesome condition of country life in the state and nation—a condition of rural life that will be attractive to the best of the boys and girls of the farms in coming generations; and that will develop a farm citizenship with rising, not a degenerating, standard of living."

OBITUARY

GEORGE JOSEPH WATROS
(Contributed)

George Joseph Watros was born in North Fairfield, Ohio, August 25, 1863.

In 1866 his parents moved to Norwalk, Ohio where he lived until 1883 when he moved to Dubuque, Iowa and entered the employ of James Beach & Sons, whose firm he faithfully represented for the last forty-two years.

On September 14, 1907 he was united in marriage to Della Voss. To this union was born one son, George Nelson Watros.

He was a kind and loving husband and father, endeared to his family by his years of devotion. A true and loyal friend beloved by all who knew him.

He is survived by his wife, Della, and son George; a brother, Milton, of Hot Springs, Ark., and a sister, Mrs. Edie Rogers, Cleveland, Ohio. Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church Monday, Jan. 16, Rev. Frank Young officiating. Burial was in Grand Detour cemetery.

GEORGE KRUG

Ashton—George Krug was born at Lee Center, Illinois, May 17, 1838, and passed away at Ashton, Illinois, January 16, 1928, having reached the age of sixty-nine years, seven months and twenty-nine days.

On February 19, 1865, he was united in marriage to Christina C. Vaupel, who preceded her husband in death September 27, 1918. They resided in the Reynolds community until they retired from the farm and moved to Ashton 20 years ago. Two daughters were born to this union, Emma C. and Minnie J. Emma C. preceded her father in the Great Beyond September 27, 1919. Minnie J. is now Mrs. Wesley H. Yenerich.

In the year 1856 Brother Krug was converted and joined the Reynolds Evangelical church, of which he was a faithful member until the time of his departure. During his residence in Ashton he was a regular attendant of the Evangelical church there. He was very conscientious in the discharge of his Christian duties and it is said that the days in his home were always begun with family worship.

On December 12, 1927, he submitted to surgery in the Dixon Public Hospital. His recovery was speedy and he returned to his home December 29. During his convalescence he was very optimistic and as his custom was he was busy making plans for the coming year. On Saturday morning he was suddenly stricken with another malady. In spite of all that doctors and nurses could do his loved ones watched him as he rapidly became weaker until at three o'clock on Monday afternoon he was ushered into his eternal home.

Must Elect Friends.

He leaves to mourn his departure, one daughter, Minnie J., one son-in-law Wesley H. Yenerich; two grandsons, Wallace C. Yenerich, Jr., and George W. Yenerich, one sister, Mrs. Chris Koch of Rochelle, one brother, Casper Krug of Dixon, and one half-sister, Mrs. Martha Mealhouse of Garrison, Iowa, and nephews and nieces and a host of friends.

LENA RUTH REINHART
Ashton—Lena Ruth Irene Reinhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reinhart, was born in Early, Iowa, August 9, 1911 and passed to her eternal home January 13, 1928 at the early age of 16 years, 5 months and 4 days.

The death of Ruth was occasioned by a shocking railroad accident at 10:30 Friday evening when a fast train struck their car, causing the death of our sister, and seriously injuring her escort.

It all came so suddenly. No time for a last farewell—no time for the shock of fear. Scarcely a moment's halt on the shore. With the guide and the boatman near—Only a moment of dark—When she heard the message to come.

Mayor Thompson in Warm Defense of Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Chicago, which since the invention of the machine gun, black powder bomb and automatic pistol has come to be known as a sort of Medicine Hat of crime, has entered, for the time being at least, a new and tranquil era.

"These lies," as Mayor Thompson last night called reports of Chicago as a crime center, are being nailed by "the greatest thief catcher in the world," Police Commissioner Hughes.

Most of the gangsters whose hips have developed callouses from totting six-shooters, have hibernated. The beer racket, a frequent cactus belli in the not remote past, has failed to stir itself to violence for months.

Gambling has gone under the heel of the administration. The miscellaneous forms of felony which in other days spread a wicked clamor around the southern end of Lake Michigan, have temporarily gone out of fashion.

Shootings there have been, but the bad men have been on the receiving end. Police bullets have done more to decrease the ranks of Chicago crimesters in the past few weeks than for many previous moons.

There have been isolated crimes, but they have been mostly private affairs, committed without any inconvenience to the general public.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Next to the Bible, the Boy Scout Manual is the most universally used and sold book in America, Dr. George J. Fisher, of New York, told more than 400 registered delegates at the leader's conference of the Seventh Region which continued in session today.

Representatives of almost all the 110 councils in region seven, which includes Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan, were present, making this the largest single gathering of laymen from any one region in the history of Scouting.

Charles F. Glone of Chicago, was elected regional chairman of Region Seven, Boy Scouts of America, at the meeting.

Mysterious Blast in Belgian Palace

Brussels, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Considerable excitement exists here over a mysterious explosion which occurred at Bellevue Palace Monday morning. The explosion has been variously reported as a bomb attempt on the life of Crown Prince Leopold and again as the mere bursting of an overheated ornamental copper ball adorning a fire dog.

Despite formal denials the impression prevails that the explosion was connected with some sort of a plot.

The Prince was at work in the room when the fire dog burst, smashing a large plate glass door and the debris imbedding itself in the ceiling and furniture. He was not injured.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS AMBOY ADMITTED TO CONFERENCE: SCHEDULE DRAWN

R. R. Valley Conference Officials Met Here Last Eve

At a meeting of the Rock River Valley Conference of high schools held last evening, the Amboy township high school was provisionally admitted to membership in the organization. The provision requires that the Amboy school maintain competition in the conference, sufficiently to hold a membership. The Amboy high school has for some time been a contender for a berth in the conference and affords sufficient athletic material to command a position in all of the departments of the organization. In football, Amboy has supported one of the strongest football teams for schools of its size in this section of the state for several seasons, and there is little doubt but that Coach Dominetti will start immediate preparations to maintain the conference position which finally has been awarded Amboy.

Track Meet May 5.
It was decided at the meeting last evening to hold the annual conference track and field meet at Sterling this year, the date being set for May 5th.

The coaches also arranged the conference football schedule for next fall. Dixon has five games at home and an equal number on other grids. By agreement between Coach Roscoe Eades of Sterling and Coach Arthur Bowers of Dixon, but one game will be played between the two schools on Thanksgiving this year. The plan of staging two games, the curtain raiser between the light-weight organization, to be followed by the heavyweight classic, is said not to have met with public favor, as being too much football on an unusually disagreeable afternoon. The plan of playing one game will be given a trial this next fall Dixon playing at Sterling. The schedule of games which the Dixon team will play this fall are as follows:

Football Schedule
Sept. 22—Open date—non-conference game.
Sept. 29—Dixon at Amboy.
Oct. 6—Mendota at Dixon.
Oct. 13—Dixon at Rock Falls.
Oct. 20—Sterling at Dixon.
Oct. 27—Dixon at Mt. Morris.
Nov. 3—Savanna at Dixon—(non-conference game).
Nov. 10—Dixon at Rochelle.
Nov. 17—Morris at Dixon.
Nov. 24—Sterling Lights at Dixon.
Nov. 29—Dixon Heavies at Sterling.

To Meet Sterling.
Friday evening of this week the Dixon basketball team goes to Sterling to meet the strongest team this year in the conference. As was the case last fall with Sterling's football squad, many of the members of the basketball squad are completing a very successful term in high school athletics. Sterling has been undefeated this year at basketball and will probably experience little difficulty in winning Friday night's game.

There are no advance sale of seats for the double bill and any from Dixon who plan on being present, will probably do well to depart for the Sterling high school early Friday evening. The Sterling team is drawing large crowds and the seating capacity will undoubtedly be taken. The lightweights will open their contest at 7:15 to be followed by the heavyweight game, the feature of the evening's bill.

Don't Know Now Who Griffith Knocked Out

Sioux City, Ia., Jan. 19.—(AP)—The boys who watch the boxing matches at Sioux City are scratching their heads today, trying to figure out who it was that Buzz Griffith, Sioux Falls, S. D., middleweight, knocked out Monday night.

Everyone thought it was "Kid" Culbertson from St. Paul, it was so programmed, and a receipt signed "Eddie Culbertson" was given to the promoter in return for the loser's share of the purse.

It has developed, however, that Kid Culbertson was at home the night of the fight and consequently not in a prone position in a Sioux City ring.

Walt Pritchard, the promoter, said he thought he was dealing with Culbertson, but added that he never had seen the St. Paul scrapper and so may have been mistaken. Some who

RED SOX ADDED MANY RECRUITS DURING WINTER

And Carrigan Hopes to Make Better Show- ing This Year

Boston, Jan. 19.—(AP)—A winter of vigorous house-cleaning by President Bob Quinn of the Boston Red Sox, leaves Manager Bill Carrigan with the dusty corners of the roster swept clean and a host of new performers ready to hustle the remaining veterans in the 1928 American League pennant race.

Three pitchers, three catchers and the entire 1927 outfield, with the exception of Ira Flagstead, have passed the muster of Carrigan to build on Phil Todd at first base, Bill Regan at second, Russell Rawlings at third and Reggie, Jack Rothrock and Charles "Daddy" Myer as shortstop or utility men, are again available. Reggie plays either second base or third, Myer at short or in the outfield and Rothrock can handle any infield assignment, exclusive of battery work.

The two outstanding infield recruits are Joseph Cicero, a 16-year-old youth who batted for 330 in the Eastern Maryland Circuit after leaving school for the diamond, and Paul Hinson, a third baseman purchased from Joplin, Mo.

Filled Big Gap
The departure of Walter Shaner, Cleo Carlyle and Frank Welch for the minors leaves Ira Flagstead and Arlie Tarbert, former Ohio State star, the only prominent patrolmen of the outer gardens who graced the roster last year. The biggest gap was plugged by the purchase of Ken Williams from St. Louis, followed by the acquisition of Doug Tate, a slugging left-hander from Nashville, and G. H. Loepp and Denny Williams, both from Mobile.

The pitching casualties of the winter season included Tony Welzer, Delmar Lundgren and Fred Wingfield. The outstanding replacement seems to be Herb Bradley, who was farmed to the Waterbury Eastern League club last year and was recalled in time to hurl several excellent games. Two more ex-Mobile players have been obtained in Ed Morris and Merrill Settlemyre. Cliff Garrison of the Texas League is another recruit, while the remaining veterans are Alvin Hartes, Charlie Ruffing, Danny MacFadden, Jack Russell and Hal Witte.

In the catching department, Fred Hofmann withstood the storm that sent Moore to Mobile, Knox to Nashville and Grover Hartley to Cleveland on waivers. The new recruits added are Charles Berry from Dallas, Tex., John Heving from the Toledo American Association, Ed Doherty of Holy Cross and Ed Connolly, a New York State semi-pro.

Old Race Horse Tries to Finish With Broken Leg

New Orleans, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Black Gold, the sensation of the tracks in 1924 when he won the Kentucky Derby and three other major turf events is dead.

The great horse raced the last of four conditioning tryouts here yesterday in a comeback attempt, and a spill on the track ended his racing for all time.

Spectators saw the horse go down, and come up with one leg dragging, broken, still trying to finish the contest.

To pick a "logical" opponent for Gene Tunney.

The promoter left New York last night for Miami, Fla., where he plans to spend four weeks with the heavyweight champion, at golf and conferences.

On Feb. 1, Rickard will post $100,000 to bind an option on Tunney's services for 1928 and around the same date he thinks he will have decided who, among the present crop of contenders, will get the next opportunity to knock the crown from the Big Marine's head.

Rickard found time yesterday to close a match between Sid Terris, of New York, and Jimmy McLardin, of Los Angeles. They will battle at the Garden, Feb. 24. The winner probably will get a championship bout with Sammy Mandell.

West Point is Not Talking Navy Game

New York, Jan. 19.—(AP)—West Point authorities feel that the last word has been said on the Army-Navy controversy over football eligibility rules and that the 1928 game is "off" definitely and finally.

Major Philip B. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics at West Point, in a formal statement, said Army officials considered the issue had been closed when the superintendents of the two academies decided on Jan. 7 to cancel a four-year contract and announced that no game would be played in 1928. Fleming "deplored" the prolonged newspaper discussion of the dispute.

The Army statement was made in answer to one issued by the Naval Academy which said the Navy was holding open "for a reasonable time," the date for the 1928 contest in the hope that West Point would reconsider its stand against the three-year eligibility regulation.

Highway Team Out of Y. M. C. A. League

The crowd that attended the Industrial League basketball games at the Y. M. C. A. last night received the surprise of their lives when the J. I. Case team was defeated by the Y. M. C. A. team by a score of 21 to 18. Here is how it happened:

The State Highway Department team dropped out of the League and to prevent a gap in the schedule, the Y. team was given one-half day's notice to take their place. Whether the Y. team or any other team will take the Highway team's place in the League will be decided by the Industrial Council this week.

The game was a good one, and a cellar with Northwestern, played at Evanston.

Ohio will trail Northwestern back to Chicago for a game with Chicago Saturday, the result of which will determine the holder of cellar position, temporarily at least.

Two other games carded for Saturday promise real competition. Illinois travels to Indiana and Purdue goes to Iowa.

Referendum on Iowa
Coach is Thrown Out
Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 19.—(AP)—State alumni of the University of Iowa today disavowed responsibility for the student referendum on the question of retaining Burt Ingwersen as head football coach. The referendum held yesterday, was described by Martin Smith, vice president of the State Alumni Association, as a hoax, perpetrated by students.

The referendum ballots were thrown out last night by the Student Council following the disappearance of one ballot box and the reported "stuffing" of others. None of the ballots were counted.

The Student Council following receipt of a telegram bearing the signature of the president of the State Alumni Association. The referendum sought to obtain the sentiment among the students concerning the athletic situation.

There has been constant criticism of Coach Ingwersen in recent months due to the poor showing of Iowa football teams. It recently was announced that Ingwersen had been retained as head coach for another season.

To Tell How Judges Vote in Ring Bouts

Chicago, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Public announcement of the individual decisions of judges and referees of all windup bouts in Illinois will be made in the future. Announcement to the effect was made yesterday by Paul Prehn, Chairman of the State Athletic Commission, who said that the suggestion would become a rule at the Commission's meeting Tuesday.

In the past the public has never known whom to charge with unpopular verdicts. The referee might arrive at one decision, said Mr. Prehn, which might be correct while the two judges might have a different view and overrule him.

Under the new plan the judges' names and their decision will be given to the newspaper writers covering the match and they will be authorized to make public the decisions. No announcements will be made from the ringside.

Olympic Games in Chicago for Fair?

Chicago, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Plans to bring the Olympic games to Chicago in 1933, the year of the proposed World's Fair and Centennial Celebration, are being moulded by trustees of the fair.

Chairman Rufus C. Dawes has been authorized to appoint a general sports committee to open negotiations for bringing the games here. Holding of the Olympic games on the lake front would give Americans their first opportunity to see the world's sport classic in this country.

when they were held in St. Louis.

The Olympic games are scheduled for 1932. In order to hold them at the fair it would necessitate a year's postponement but an effort will be made to get the committee to take favorable action on a postponement of one year.

Told of Death of Former Dixon Man

The Review of Spokane, Wash., contained the following notice of the death of Clark M. Cryor, formerly of Dixon, which was briefly mentioned in The Telegraph:

Clark M. Cryor, 47, head of Cryor & Co., realtor and builder, died at St. Luke's hospital at 5:30 p. m. yesterday of pneumonia, after an illness of four days. He was in apparent good health on Thursday and became sick on the following morning.

His ailment is described as similar to that which caused deaths in large numbers during the flu epidemic. The title of "Doc," used by his friends in addressing him, was earned by Mr. Cryor in the practice of dentistry in Franklin Grove, Ill., before coming to Spokane in July 1911.

DEMOCRATS IN SENATE FIGHT OVER ATTACKS

Heflin's Attacks on Catholic Church
Start Trouble

BULLETIN
Washington, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic Senate leader, who yesterday told Senator Heflin he was sick and tired of the Alabama attacks on the Catholic Church, was given a vote of confidence and support today by his democratic colleagues in the Senate.

Senator Heflin had not reached his office at the Capitol today at the time set by the democrats to settle the issue in party conference. The Alabama, whose fiery attack on Governor Smith of New York, brought from the Arkansas a stinging rebuke, was said by his secretary to have decided not to attend the meeting, on the ground that he had just received notice that it was to be held, and because he wanted to be in attendance at the Senate at 11 o'clock.

The vote for Robinson lacked one of being unanimous. Heflin and about a dozen others did not attend. Announcement of the result was made before the conference broke up by Senator Caraway of Arkansas. The dissenting vote was cast by Trammell of Florida.

Washington, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The Senate Democratic leadership of Senator Robinson of Arkansas, was at issue today, forced before a party caucus by a bitter clash between Robinson and Senator Heflin of Alabama, involving Catholicism.

The caucus was called by Robinson himself when his leadership was challenged by the Alabama after Heflin had been sharply rebuked by his chief for his repeated attacks upon the Roman Catholic church, its "political machine," Governor Al Smith, and Tammany Hall.

As drawn by the two senators in a contest of nearly three hours before attentive colleagues and spectators, the issue before the democrats was whether they approve the leadership of Robinson and his opposition to Heflin's anti-Catholic tirades, or support Heflin.

Fight Waxed Hot
Beginning with Heflin's criticism of William Randolph Hearst for his publication of the Mexican "slush fund" documents, the drama moved to its startling climax after the Alabama had demanded Robinson's removal from the committee which investigated the scandal.

Heflin had attributed publication of the purported Mexican documents to a Roman Catholic Church conspiracy against him. His demand for Robinson's recall from the committee followed the latter's declaration that the Roman Catholic church had nothing to do with the documents.

Robinson then renounced Heflin's attack on the Catholic church and Governor Smith, to which the Alabama retorted:

"The Senator from Arkansas cannot remain leader of the Democrats and fight the Roman Catholics' battle every time it is raised in this body without some expression from a constitutional democrat."

Got Personal
Whenever the senator from Alabama can determine who shall be the leader of the democratic party in the Senate of the United States, Robinson replied, "that party can get somebody else than myself to lead it here."

Robinson declared that he had so often heard Heflin "denounce the Catholic church and the Pope of Rome and the Cardinals and the Bishops and the priests and the nuns" that he was "sick and tired of it as a democrat."

Heflin challenged his party leader and Robinson replied that he would make that speech in Arkansas make it there and in Alabama as well. "Yes," shouted the Alabama, "and if you do, they will tar and feather you."

During the outburst Heflin at one time asked those of his colleagues who dared to rebuke him to stand up. None did, but after a few moments Senator Reed of Missouri, left the chamber. Later Heflin asked those who approved Robinson's attack upon him to stand up. When there came no response Heflin said that fact evidenced disapproval of Robinson's leadership.

GRAVES OF SMITH BROTHERS FOUND IN AN OLD CELLAR

Old Controversy Which Stirred Mormons is Finally Settled

Nauvoo, Ill., Jan. 19.—(AP)—From the basement of a squalid, deserted house in Nauvoo at last has come final settlement of a controversy that has disturbed Mormonism for more than 83 years.

The controversy, centered over the location of the graves of Joseph Smith, founder of Mormonism, and his brother, Hyrum, who were shot and killed by a mob on June 24, 1844, after which their bodies were secretly buried, was terminated by the discovery of the graves in the mouldy basement. The discovery was made by W. O. Hand, a Kansas City, Mo., civil engineer, and members of the local church, now reorganized.

Recalls Episode
Location of the graves has recalled a stirring episode in the pioneering of the Mormon church in Illinois. In addition to his leadership in the struggling sect, Joseph was mayor of Nauvoo, which then had a population of about 25,000 as compared to today's estimated 1,000. Hyrum, the brother, assisted him in his multiple duties.

It was at this time that the question of polygamy caused a split among followers of the sect. This difference culminated shortly afterward when the Nauvoo Expositor published its first issue, in which it espoused the teaching of polygamy as an article of Mormon faith. The city council ordered destruction of the newspaper's plant almost immediately after the first issue. It was destroyed and the two Smith brothers and several others who were parties of action against the newspaper, were charged with treason and thrown into the Hancock County jail at Carthage, Ill.

Protected by Militia
Feeling against the prisoners was so intense that a company of Illinois militia, known as the Carthage Grays, was ordered to protect them at the jail. The angered mob, however, broke through and shot and killed the two brothers. The fate of the others has since been problematical.

A few days later, Joseph Smith's wife, Emma, placed the bodies on a wagon and removed them to the old "Mansion House" at Nauvoo. The wife then caused a mock funeral to be held, the supposed caskets of the brothers being filled with stones. Later, the bodies were secretly buried by the widow.

Since the burial the Mormons have sung the story in the hymn, "There's an unknown grave in a green, lowly spot."

Always there has been controversy between the followers of Brigham

"I Sleep Better"

Says Illinois Man, Bladder Action at Night Is One of Nature's Danger Signals.

C. E. Hodges, sixty, Ill., says in his own home paper, the Carthage Bulletin, "Lithiated Buchu relieved me of a bad case of bladder irritation. I sleep nights and am better in day time. It has also helped my wife. I will tell or write my experience to anyone."

Lithiated buchu acts on the bladder as epsom salts do on the bowels, drives out abnormal and neutralizes excessive acids, thereby relieving irritation which causes "getting up nights." ## MORROW PLANS TO LEAVE CONFERENCE WITHIN FEW DAYS

Will Return to Mexico
City to Do "Important Work" There

Havana, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Dwight W. Morrow, American Ambassador to Mexico, will leave the sessions of the Pan-American Conference Monday afternoon and return to Mexico City where he "has important work to do."

This announcement caused surprise among the delegates today, as Mr. Morrow was regarded as one of the strategic advantages of the United States at the conference. It was believed his presence here would counteract any possibility of controversial or reactionary matters being brought up and also any movement against the United States which might be proposed by any Mexican delegate.

Mr. Morrow explained to the correspondent that he originally accepted the offer to become a United States delegate with the understanding he would not be forced to remain longer than the short time necessary to participate in the organization of the Congress and to get his delegation on a favorable footing. He said his departure was not caused by the urgencies of the political situation in Mexico but in fulfillment of the agreement reached when he became a delegate.

American-Mexican cordiality was visibly emphasized in the eyes of delegates when Ambassador Morrow entertained the entire United States and Mexican representations at dinner last night.

All ceremony was definitely behind the conference today and the delegates were bent on immediate consideration of the Agenda.

Delegates today regarded the future outlook of the conference with great optimism because of the spirit of cooperation displayed by those who participated in the first plenary session of the conference.

The nature of the opening speeches, delegates said, had been most helpful in producing a good atmosphere for the initiation of committee work.

Training Dates of I. N. G. Announced

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—(AP)—A program of field training for all units of the Illinois National Guard at summer camps in 1928 was announced today by Adjutant General Carlos E. Black. Encampment will be at Sparta, Wis., Graying, Mich., and Rockford, Ill.

The necessity of spreading the training area of the Illinois divisions to other states was caused by failure of the last legislature to provide adequate training area. Gen. Black said, present conditions providing grounds for only one camp in this state.

Dates of the camps together with the attending divisions were:
Camp McCoy, Sparta, June 30 to July 14. (Fifty-eighth field artillery.)
Camp Graying, Graying, July 14

to July 28. (Two hundred second coast artillery.)
Camp Graying, Graying, July 14 August 11. (State staff corps and departments and thirty-third division and attached troops.)

Governor Len Small will review the troops at Camp Grant on August 8, which has been set aside as "governor's day."

Death Car is Found

Here is Adolph Hotelling's car, the famous blue sedan in which Dorothy Schneider was taken to her death. The car was found in Hotelling's garage while he was being questioned. It had been painted black the day after the murder, but a deputy sheriff chanced to rub his hand over the door, the paint came off and the blue underneath was revealed. The photo shows the spot on the door where the paint was rubbed away.

They Searched the Jail

These two young men, who knew Adolph Hotelling, were selected to accompany the committee that went into the Flint jail at the request of the police to see for themselves that Hotelling was no longer confined there. This was done when the crowd outside threatened to storm the jail and lynch the prisoner. The men shown are Bernard Eldridge, left, and Adelbert Owen.

Stevens Acceptable

New York, Jan. 18—(AP)—Marvin Stevens will be "acceptable" as new head Coach of Yale football but no official action yet has been taken on the question of a successor to T. A. D. Jones, who resigned last year, Louis E. Stoddard, chairman of the Yale Football Committee, said today in taking cognizance of reports that Stevens already had been agreed on.

A was held at the public school Monday evening. After a brief business meeting an interesting program was given by local talent after which an excellent lunch was served.

FARMERS VOICE SUPPORT McNARY BILL IN MEETING

5,000 Expected to Attend
I. A. A. Convention at R. I.

Rock Island, Ill., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Continuation of unified support for the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, now before the Agricultural Committee of the House of Representatives, was voiced today by delegates swarming into the Tri-Cities for the 13th annual meeting of the Illinois Agricultural Association.

A report that a special meeting of the executive committee, hurriedly called by Earl C. Smith, president, was for the purpose of lining up members of Congress who appear to have shown signs of weakening on the farm bill, was vigorously denied by R. A. Cowles, of Bloomington, treasurer of the organization.

Although the session was closed, Mr. Cowles declared "merely business and nothing political was under consideration."

Expect 5,000 There
Meeting of affiliated and associated organizations precede the opening of the I. A. A. tomorrow it was estimated that approximately 5,000 farmers of the middle west would be in attendance taking accommodations of the Tri-Cities.

In addition to the delegates, farmers of neighboring states will attend, by invitation.

The address of the keynote speaker, Gov. Adam McMillen of Nebraska, is to be broadcast on a national hook-up of radio stations Friday. It was understood that Frank O. Lowden would also be a speaker at that time, the addresses being sent over station WOC at Davenport.

To Re-elect Smith
President Smith's re-election is regarded as a certainty. Only one other position remains to be voted on, that of vice president, F. D. Barton, secretary and treasurer, being appointees of the president.

Of the four scheduled meetings today, that of the Illinois Farm Bureau League developed greatest action. Organized four years ago, the league next season will have 25 clubs in action. Question of eligibility of players brought sharp division among the members, some insisting on restriction to farm boys and others favoring the letting down of all bars.

Sessions were also held by the Farm Bureau Service Association, the Illinois Agricultural Co-operative Association and the Illinois Agricultural Mutual Insurance Company, for discussion of business and policy.

The general convention opens tomorrow with an address of welcome by Chester Thompson, Mayor of Rock Island, and the President's address by Mr. Smith.

Chronic Appendix

By W. A. Newman Dorland, M. D., Chicago. Member Gorgas Memorial
(The following is one of a series of articles prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial as part of its Better Health and Longer Life program. President Coolidge is the honorary president of the Memorial, which has been organized and endowed by prominent doctors and laymen throughout the country to perpetuate the work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Gorgas Memorial are at 400 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago.)

Appendicitis, which twenty-five years ago was frequently overlooked or unrecognized even by the medical profession, is now a familiar clinical picture to the laity as well as to the doctor. The pain localized in the right lower quadrant of the abdomen, the elevation of temperature, coated tongue, nausea and vomiting, and rigidity of the abdominal wall on the affected side comprise a group of symptoms that cannot readily be mistaken for anything else.

There is a phase of the disease, however, which is not so well known and with which the public is almost totally unacquainted. It is the very chronic variety of appendicitis known clinically as the stenosing or contracting variety. This form very rarely, if ever, ends in an acute attack with abscess formation. It is also quite usual for the symptoms of stenosing appendicitis to be referred to some more or less remote portion of the abdomen, so that the attention of both patient and doctor will be directed away from that organ. Frequently it is the upper abdomen which seems to be the seat of the trouble.

These cases are often mistaken for incipient or chronic gastric or duodenal ulcer, for neuralgia of the stomach, for gall-bladder inflammation, or for a chronic catarrh of the large bowel or colon. The patient knows he is not well. He has indigestion more or less marked. His tongue is dry, furrowed and heavily coated. He suffers from occasional vague pains in the median end of the stomach. His bowels are more or less constipated, and he is the victim of varying degrees of nervous prostration. He is depressed, both physically and mentally, and is regarded frequently as a neurasthenic or hypochondriac. His hands are cold and clammy, and his blood-pressure is apt to be low.

The usual clinical history of these cases is one covering months or years without relief to the vague, though distressing, symptoms. The patient will suffer indefinitely until scientific advice is sought and a diagnosis made and proper treatment instituted.

An x-ray examination after a test-meal has been given will generally reveal the chronic trouble in the appendix. Removal of the organ will do much to restore the patient to a normal state of health.

ROCHELLE NEWS

Rochelle—Examinations are being held at the township high school this week.

The Past Matrons met Monday evening with Mrs. Amy Conry. The annual election of officers was held. The following were elected for the coming year: Mrs. Laura Wirick, president; Mrs. Gurtha Elmer, vice president; Mrs. Bessie Hackett, secretary; Mrs. Neva Overhizer, treasurer.

Mrs. J. E. Barber is critically ill from apoplexy. She is unconscious and specialists called in give little encouragement for her recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whitson entertained a company of ladies and gentlemen at 6:30 dinner at their home Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Unger were in Chicago attending the furniture market this week.

Hiram Brink, a farmer residing west of Davis Junction, will retire from the farm and move to Rochelle March 1st.

Guests at Banquet

Searched for Booze

Hoboken, N. J., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Four hundred guests of the Hoboken Chamber of Commerce at its annual banquet, including jurists, lawyers, corporation officials, the Hoboken City Commission and other of the county's most prominent men, were searched for liquor by two United States customs guards as they left the steamship Berlin of the North German Lloyd line, where the dinner was held last night.

Sixteen small bottles of liquor were taken, William Sanders, Deputy Surveyor of the port said today. No arrests were made.

Seek Blackmailer

of Wisconsin Lady

Waupun, Wis., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Authorities are attempting to run down the blackmailers who threatened Mrs. Marion Hanish, daughter of C. A. Shaler, millionaire inventor with death unless she gave them $1,000. Two suspects have been questioned but released.

One vain attempt has been made by police to catch the blackmailers who declared her husband, Arthur O.

Hanish, owner of the Vogue Hosiery Co., would be shot and the Shaler monument in Forest Mound cemetery dynamited unless she left $1,000 near a billboard west of town.

Navy Prepared for U-Boat Rescue Work
Boston, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The United States Navy was in a better position to conduct the rescue and salvage operations on the sunken submarine S-51, the Navy's personnel, he said, was more competent than any private company in the world.
